On April 28-29, Deputy Minister of Science and Education Idris Isayev attended the Hungarian-Turkic Summit on Culture, Higher Education and Innovation in Budapest, Hungary.

The opening speech was held by the Hungarian Minister of Culture and Innovation Balázs Hanko. The Minister informed about the Hungarian higher education system and touched upon the issues of potential cooperation with Hungarian universities.

Within the framework of the Summit, Deputy Minister of Science and Education Idris Isayev spoke at a panel discussion on education entitled "The Power of Regional Cooperation - Close Cooperation between Turkic States and Hungary".

During his speech, the Deputy Minister informed about the current cooperation of the Republic of Azerbaijan with Hungary and the Organization of Turkic States in the field of science and education and made proposals on the future development prospects.

Idris Isayev also emphasized that the Republic of Azerbaijan attaches great importance to strategic partnership in the field of science and the importance of establishing joint programs, research groups and information exchange systems in these fields with other Turkic-speaking states and Hungary.

At the end of the event, the declaration "On Cooperation between Turkic-speaking states and Hungary in the field of Higher Education, Innovation and Culture" was signed.