Cancellation of admission plan for paid learning at state and private higher education establishments has been mistakenly reflected in some press as if cancellation of paid learning at higher education institutions. In reality, the points of the mentioned issue have been described in the State Strategy which is posted both in web-site and Facebook page of the Ministry of Education, and also in the Minister of Education, Mikayil Jabbarov's speech at Azerbaijani teachers' XIV congress. That provision, as mentioned in the State Strategy, is related to the cancellation of admission plan for paid learning at higher education establishments. Solving the mentioned issue, it's possible to achieve the formation of healthy competition at learning institutions, increase in annual budget of higher education establishments. Using per-capita financing principle, the funds are allocated to the higher education establishments primarily up to student's choice. With this, financial status of higher education establishments gets a significant improvement. The number of students at those institutions is increased.

Nevertheless, acceptance percentage is incomplete at some higher education establishments. Due to indefinite maximum admission limit while applying admission plan, there is no any competitive environment at these institutions. As a result of cancellation of admission plan for paid learning, students are to be accepted considering logistics capacity and scientific – pedagogical staff of higher education institution. And this occurs when the number of paid admission plan is eliminated.
