At the meeting has been discussed the issue of ‘Results of exams in IX and XI grades, which have been organized in the centralized order and preparation to the final examination.’

Education Minister, Misir Mardanov in its speech on the theme, said that holding final examination in the centralized order at schools is one of the important events, which have been realized by the Ministry in the last years. He noted that pupils of IX and XI grades will pass the final exam in the centralized order as well. Efforts, which have been spending for several years were not useless, and community accepted holding examinations in the centralized order with satisfaction, the Minister said. He underlined the new assessment system serves to the education development; increase the reputation of pupils and teachers, as well as a sense of responsibility in participants of the education process.

Misir Mardanov underlined that this year final examination results have been increased by ten per cent, in comparison to the last year and gave some statistical data on exam results to participants. He noted that 127796 pupils from 138006 (92, 6%) in IX grades took part in the exam, and 82691 of them (64, 71%) received a positive score; as well as 90134 pupils from 96394 (93, 5%) in XI grades took part in the exam, and 37181 (41, 25 %) of them received positive score. The Minister has negatively assessed dismissing of 1927 pupils from the graduate list for indefinite reasons from September 16, 2009 to April 28, 2010.The Minister has acquainted participants with the difference in success rates of centralized testing examinations of IX and XI grades in the 2009/10 academic year, and comparative analysis of the last two-year exams. Moreover, he has revealed the name of cities and districts, which have been prepared to the exam well, and bad, as well as noted the name of exam inspectors, who have distinguished at the exam, and whose work was in a very low level.

The Minister in its report expressed suggestions about works realizing in the field of the exam preparation, and events, which are holding and will be held in school, international and national assessment spheres.