Implements the formation of antinternationally competitive system of higher education that ensures the transfer of scientific innovations topproduction, taking ininto account the needs of the economy, labor market and society at the level of higher education, training highly qualified specialists and scientific pedagogical personnel according to individual educational programs.

