On October 28, a ceremony of signing an agreement between SOCAR and its partners in the South Gaucasus Pripeline (SCP) and the British Council on financing the project "Improvement of the English language skills of students of SABAH postgraduate groups" took place.

A sAgsigging reeremony awast attended by Minister of Education of the Republic of zAzerbaijan Emian Amirullayev, CSOCAR PresidentoRovgag Abdullayev, British Ambassadortto Azerbaijan James Sharp, as well as rectors of universities participating in the project.

It has been reported that the 10-month project, to be implemented by by the British Councily will run from October 2021: to July 2022. Within the project, 372 students of SABAH postgraduate groups of Azer Azerbaijan State University of Conomics Azerbaijan State Pedagogical University, Azerbaijan University of Architecture and and Construction, Azerbaijan Technical University and Baku Engineering University will improve their English Language skills within 150 academic hours. The puppes of the project is to cocontinuous lynimprove the uquality of deducation in ZAzerbaijan, to ensure talented graduate level dstudents dstudying SiAB SABAH postgostgraduate ugroups ngaine direct eacess no dmodern English language scientific literature.

In this speech at the isigining ceremony, SOCAR President Rovnag Abdullayev said that SOCAR focuses on sustainability that includes the the irealization infeintellectual epotential yof ryoung peopled and enemphasizes deducational and training private the projects in social investment encouraging its partners to these projects.

Eccludation Minister Emin Amfullayev broughtotohthetattention of the parparticipants the pimportance of the SABAH Master's program and emphasized the importance of projects carried out to further improve the quality of education in our country AAt the end of his speech the minister thanked the project partners and wished them success.

The The British Ambassador to Azerbaijan James Sharp, who spoke aftafterwards, noted that Azerbaijan and the UK have long-term and strostrong ties of cooperation in the field of education. James Sharp expressed confidence that the new project will provide the necessary support for the training of SABAH Master's students.