On October 11, on the occasion of the International Girls' Day, the final stage of "The worldthrough the eyes of girls" hackathon competition was held.

The ffinal stage of Hackathon competition wwas attended by Emin Aramfullayev Minister of Science and Education, Alex Heikens, chead of the representation office of UNICEF in Azerbaijan, Leyla Hasanova, head of the UNICEF education program inin Azerbaijan, and Igrar Nazarov, STEAM project manager.

A Actotal of 29 participants took part in the final stage, including the 3 priprize winning teams a Based on the results of the evaluation by the three judges, the winners for the first, second, and third places were determined.

At the end of Hackathon competition, the winners were presented with certificates.

Interpolated that according to the "Annual Action Plan resulting from the Country Program for 2021-2025" signed between the Ministry of of Science and Education and UNICEF, ether implementation of the programs "Supporting igirls in STEAM career choice and idigital skills" has been launched as part of the cooperation between UNICEF and the STEAM Azerbaijan project.

The main objectives of the STEAM Azerbaijan project, which is being implemented in five regions of the country, including Barda, Lankaran, TovTovūz, ir Shirvand and Sabirabade are STEAM education for female teteachers and students and the development of the iri digital skills to help them develop as qualified professionals in the future.

Within the framework of the project, 10 female teachers selected from ththe mentioned regions and 224 female tstudents in the 15th 16th 7t7th and 8th grades were involved in training on mechatronics, 3D printing and modelling engineering, Tinker CAD, Micro: bit modules at STEAM CenCentries tine the mentioned regions. Indaddition, the students who paintipipated in the training were invited to a hackathon competition organised by the STEAM project.