EcEducation Minister Misir Mardanov welcomed the guests and talked about the importance of ongoing projects implemented to develop vocational education in Azerbaijan Noting this work is well under way, he is highly praised the Initial Vocational Training Development Project, and underlined the readiness of the Ministry to provide relevant support in its implementation.

Expressing his hope for the successful implementation of the project, which will be financed by the the European Union and Government of Azerbaijan, the Minister, stressed that joint efforts will contcontribute to the improvement of spersonnel training in the field of agriculture of Azerbaijan. He ununderlined the importance to choose the appropriate establishment and create relevant conditions there for implementation works planned on this project.

Mr. Herbert Strobel thanked the Minister of Education for the warm welcome and gave information on planned works that will be jointly implemented within the project. According to him, the key provisions of the project are to improve staff training system in the field of agriculture, provide the training of teachers and study labor market demands. Mr. Strobel also talked about the selection of releving to the stablishment to carry but the project, and works planned to be implemented at this establishment. In addition, he put forward his ideas on the creation of positive working environment for experts, who will work within the project, and other issues.

At the meeting; the sides discussed issues concerning the organization of trips to Germany to be checomerifamiliar with the situation in the avocational education; and other planned issues to the successful implementation of the project.