

---

The World Education Forum, held in London, Great Britain, will conclude its work today.

On the second day of the forum, Minister of Science and Education Emin Amrullayev met with Global Director of Climate Education of Cambridge University Kristina Ozden, Head of Global Affairs of International Rating Agency Phil Baty, director of education for Central Europe of Microsoft Lenka Axlerova, the Director of Education, Gender and Equality of the Foreign Commonwealth and Development Office, and the Special Representative of Great Britain for Gender Equality Alisia Herbert and Chris Harte, Google for Education Government Strategy Lead. Emin Amrullayev also met and exchanged views with the Minister of Education, Science and Youth of Georgia, Giorgi Amilakhvari.

Within the framework of the meetings, bilateral cooperation directions were discussed.