

---

On September 5, Deputy Minister of Science and Education Hasan Hasanli addressed the 6th plenary session of the UNESCO Digital Learning Week.

In his speech at the plenary session entitled "Pathways to a Sustainable Future: Transition to Digital and Green Education" Hasan Hasanli spoke about the educational policy on transition to digital and green education and shared the successful experience of our country with the audience. Recalling that the COP29 event will be held in Azerbaijan and that 2024 is announced as "The year of solidarity for a green world", the Deputy Minister also provided information on the measures implemented in this direction in the field of science and education.