A Memorial Room dedicated to the 135th anniversary of the birth of Vietnam's prominent political figure and first President, Ho Chi Minh, was inaugurated on May 8 at the Azerbaijan State Oil and Industry University (ASOIU). The ceremony also highlighted the long-standing cooperation between Azerbaijan and Vietnam.

Organized as a symbol of the historic friendship and energy collaboration between the Azerbaijan and Vietnam, the event brought together high-level government officials of both countries, heads of science and education sectors, as well as teaching staff and students of higher education institutions.

Among the attendees were To Lam, General Secretary of the Central Committee of the Communist Party of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam; Parviz Shahbazov, Minister of Energy of Azerbaijan; Emin Amrullayev, Minister of Science and Education of Azerbaijan; Le Manh Hung, Chairman of the Supervisory Board of "PetroVietnam" company; as well as other dignitaries and academic representatives. Speakers emphasized the historical foundations of Azerbaijan-Vietnam relations, joint projects in the field of energy. They also spoke about the influence of Ho Chi Minh's political legacy on these relations.

The role of Ho Chi Minh in building friendship and solidarity among nations was emphasised during the speeches.

Following the speeches, the Memorial Room was officially opened. The exhibition features a collection of materials chronicling Ho Chi Minh's life and activities, along with historical documents showcasing Azerbaijan-Vietnam cooperation in the oil and gas sector.

Attendees toured the room and posed for a group photo to commemorate the occasion.
