Education Minister Misir Mardanov expressed his pleasure at welcoming the guest at the Ministry. He talked about relationship development between the two countries in recent years, and underlined importance of bilateral relations in the education field. Noting one of the universities of Hungary was included to the relevant list of universities within the State Program for the study of Azeri students abroad for the years 2007-2015, the Minister talked about the study of Azeri students in Hungary. StStressing more universities of Hungary could be added to the relevant list of the State Program, the Minister underlined more works should be done in this direction.

Moreover, the Minister expressed his belief that the current level of relationship between Azerbaijan and Hungary will create favorable conditions for effective cooperation between the two countries in the education field. According to him, relations between educational institutions and student exchange between the two countries will make a special contribution to the development of cooperation as well.

Jolt Chutora thanked Minister Mardanov for the warm welcome and said that his country is well aware of Azerbaijan and there is friendly attitude towards Azeri people. According to the Ambassador, his country is seriously interested in increasing the number of Azeri students studying at universities of Hungary and in expanding ties in the education field. Noting there is great potential to increase the student exchange between the two countries, the guest added that the programs at universities of Hungary are being taught in English and Russian languages.

Next, the sides exchanged views on other issues of mutual interest and expressed confidence that cooperation in the education field will contribute to the development of high-level relationship between the two countries.
